

Integrated Pediatric Care 101

Integrated Care for Children

Our clinic is now providing integrated care services, meaning that behavioral health care is now included under the primary care we offer. Integrated care provides you, the patient’s parent or guardian, with the central role as part of a collaborative health care team. Within this type of care, you help develop a health care plan that best fits your child’s needs and supports their overall wellbeing.

What is integrated care?

This model of care brings together health care providers who have expertise in a variety of areas, including primary care physicians and behavioral health providers. Through this team-based, collaborative approach, you and your child can access both behavioral and general health services by visiting an integrated care clinic.

The purpose of integrated pediatric care is to promote the physical and mental wellbeing of children who have behavioral health conditions.

Composition of an Integrated Care Team

The BH2I Care Model

The Indian Health Service (IHS) Behavioral Health Integration Initiative (BH2I) helps clinics plan, develop, and launch a model of healthcare called integrated care.

As part of the BH2I efforts, this clinic now offers integrated pediatric care, meaning we provide behavioral health services as part of our primary pediatric care.

How is integrated care different from other models of care?

Integrated care prioritizes the voice of the patient and their family, placing them at the center of the care team. Additionally, the collaborative approach addresses numerous aspects of your child’s wellbeing, including:

- Emotional
- Social
- Spiritual
- Environmental
